Woods Equipment

From design to delivery, Woods manufactures innovative and high-quality attachments for the agricultural and grounds maintenance markets. Every Woods product from the flagship Batwing® rotary cutter, to the innovative Food Plot Seeder, to the rugged disc harrow is precision-engineered and manufactured by experts who innovate day in and day out to make sure your attachments not only perform well, but are easy to use, safe to operate, and simple to maintain. As if that's not enough, our product design team has a penchant for style and revel in making bent, welded, painted metal look clean, fresh, and rugged.

We have invested millions of dollars to ensure that our design, fabrication, welding, paint and assembly capabilities support the level of innovation and quality our customers expect.

BATWING®

Woods has been building quality attachments since 1946

when Leonard, Keith, and Mervel Wood built the first successful tractor-mounted rotary cutter.

The Company served the agricultural industry in its first 45 years, then entered the construction market, and eventually expanded into landscaping and heavy construction.
